

HOMEWORK

Your children will benefit most from reading regularly at home (school reading book at least twice a week), this doesn't just mean their school reading book but story books you share, magazines the children get and newspapers. Any opportunity for your children to experience text will enrich and support their learning.

Each term I will set the children a topic based piece of homework to complete with you (not by you).

In the spring term it may be that I send a specific piece of work home for the children to practice and imbed skills they are learning in school, however this is more likely to be on an individual basis not whole class.
